KATHI EFFLANDT
Perennial Farm & Garden
Sanger, Texas

Kathi is an avid gardener and has been all her life. A Proud Native Texan born and raised in Dallas, she currently lives in Sanger, TX, with her husband Randy on their Perennial Farm and Garden. She specializes in the use of native plants in landscaping and teaches their importance to pollinators and native wildlife. She love's sharing the knowledge she has gained from becoming a Denton County Master Gardner in 2010. She teaches gardening classes to the Master Gardeners as well as the community at her greenhouse and classroom on the farm. The demo gardens on the farm are her classroom too. She has earned her advanced training from the Texas Master Gardeners in plant propagation and greenhouse management. Container gardening and landscape design are other classes she teaches. Many have caught the joy of gardening from her inspiration and shared knowledge. Her goal is that you will catch the joy of gardening by learning how to get that "Green Thumb" from her good communication skills and her true excitement of gardening!
